

How to Snagit!

And Upload Directly to YouTube!

By Student: Ayonnah Tinsley

How to Record Screen Videos on Snagit

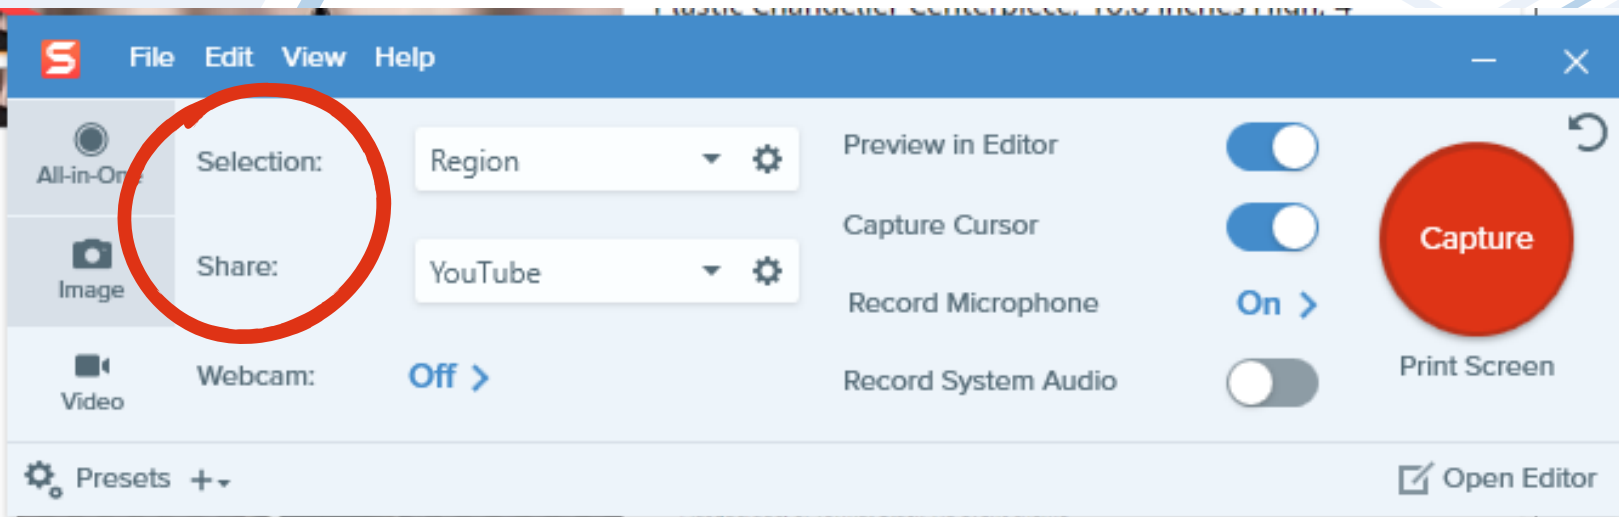

For videos, click the last button on the left side that is circled

Now I am going to go over what each button means and how to set up YouTube settings from here!

Settings

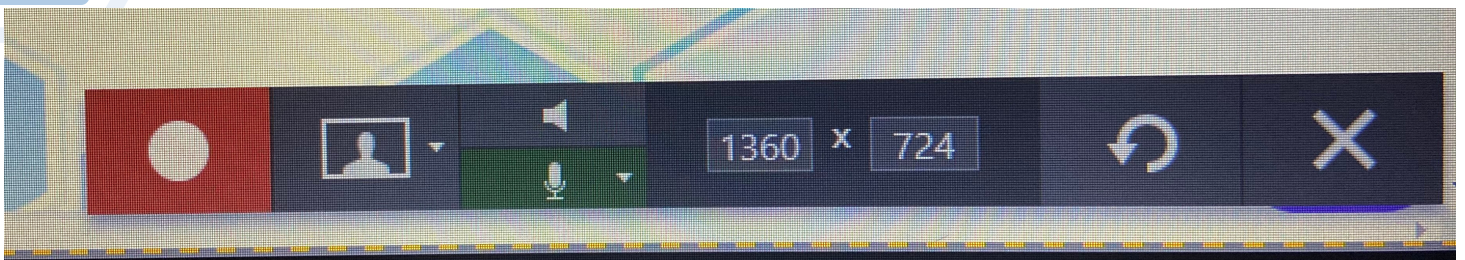

Selection: The difference between the options "region" and "window" is that window gives you the option to record the entire screen, including tabs.

Share: Click this drop down menu, and if you have the intent of sharing it to YouTube, just select YouTube, sign into your account, and after you have finished recording it will prompt you with video title, caption, and privacy settings.

Action!

Now you will click the big red "capture" button which will take you to whatever tab you already have open and then prompt you to select the extent of the screen you would like to be shared.

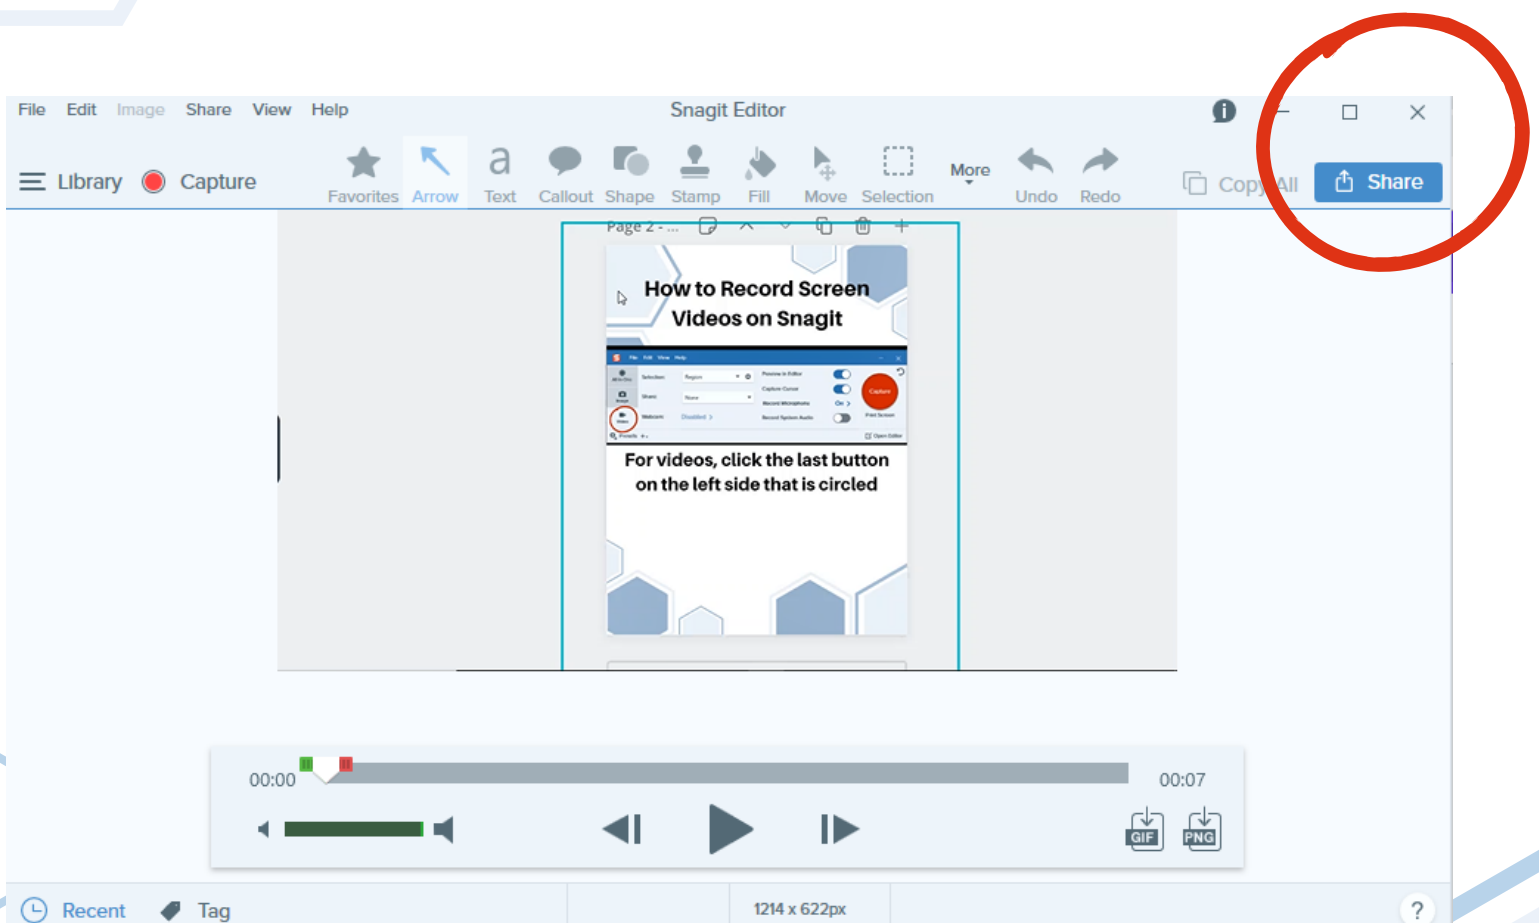

When you press the red button, you will start recording.

The button next to it gives you the option to also record via webcam.

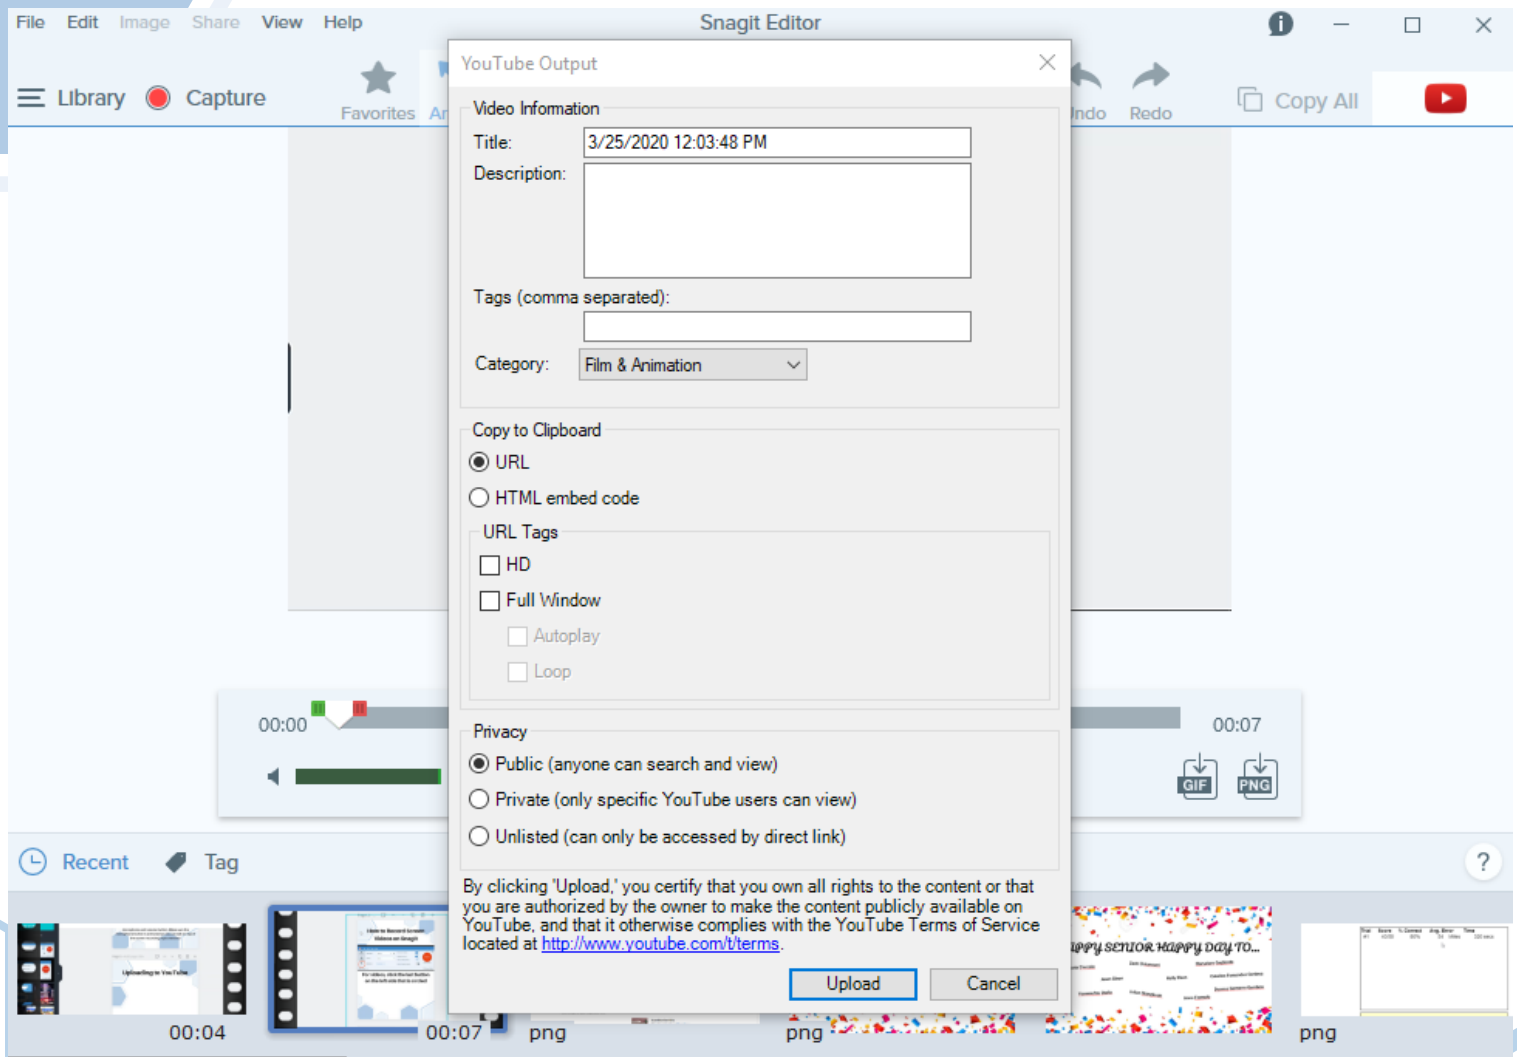

The last buttons that may need to be pressed are the microphone and volume button. Make sure the microphone button is activated so you can talk on top of the screen recording if you need to!

Uploading to YouTube

Click the blue button in the top right corner to share. It will lead to a drop down menu and you can choose to upload this to YouTube or save it first as a mp4 file.

Here is what Snagit will show you when you decide to directly upload to YouTube. But, if you want your video to be a file on your computer first. You can click "file" then upload the video to YouTube from a browser.

Contact me at ayonnah.tinsley@gmail.com or 1599275@fcps.edu for any questions!